PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Do you want to work with students, teachers, and families to improve children's lives and boost their academic success?

With your Master of Education in School Counseling from MACU, you'll be ready to expand your impact on the lives of students by providing essential social-emotional support in addition to academic support.

PROGRAM OUTCOMES

Our Master's in School Counseling prepares you to demonstrate ethical decision-making and cultural sensitivity, apply the foundational knowledge and skills related to multicultural counseling, and conceptualize student needs within a human development framework that considers cultural and ethnic differences.

Through coursework, you'll develop the skills necessary to effectively conduct consultations, individual counseling and small-group counseling. You'll be equipped to apply informal/formal assessments to identify student needs, focus interventions, and evaluate interventions within a school setting. You'll also learn to evaluate research-based interventions and explain how to lead and evaluate components of an evidence-based comprehensive school counseling program.
